MUST ANSWER TO WHITE SLAVERY CHARGES

Pocatello, Oct. 10.—Officers of the police department arrested Tom Koompin, a Greek, 28 years old, and detained as a witness. Miss Hedwig Holz, aged 15. The two were picked up shortly after the arrival of the morning train from the south. Their suspicious actions attracted the attention of Patrolman Smith, who, after questioning the couple, took them before Chief Ellis, who, upon further questioning, determined that there was warrant for a statutory charge of white slavery against the Greek.

From the girl the chief learned that she had been enticed by Koompin to his ranch near Murray, Idaho, where they remained for a few days. The Greek promised to marry her and yesterday they took an interurban car to Brigham, where they took the train for this city. The girl, who is quite pretty, is the daughter of Herman Holz, a respectable German employed by the Utah Lumber company of Salt Lake. He and the Utah authorities have been communicated with.

REDMOND HAS POTATO SHOW FOR TWO DAYS

Redmond, Ore., Oct. 10.—The Second Annual Potato Show and Fair of Redmond will be held here Friday and Saturday this week. The various committees for the show have worked diligently to make the show this year a winner; have offered substantial prizes for all kinds of exhibits, and it is expected that the whole surrounding country will enter the best samples of grain, grasses and root crops to be secured. The Powell Butte section will send in a strong line of exhibits to compete for prizes, and other sections will be here with their best products. There will be ample space for all exhibits.

On the days of the show a farmers' institute will be held. The institutes will be conducted by professors from the Oregon Agricultural college, and experts from the same college will act as judges at the show and award the premiums.

Paper cartons containing Saratoga chips made from potatoes grown in this section and advertising the potato show, are to be distributed free on passenger trains on the O.-W. R. & N., the North Bank and the Oregon Trunk and Deschutes Railroads. Special rates have been made on the various railroads for the show, and a large attendance for both days is expected.

SUSPECTED SLAYER KILLS GIRL AND SELF

Salt Lake, Utah, Oct. 10.—J. H. Bartley, reputed to be the son of a wealthy New Bedford, Mass., family is dead here from a self-inflicted wound after killing Miss Louise Gellinas of Boston. Bartley was awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of white slavery said to have been performed against Miss Gellinas.

The Rest Cure.

Baker—Who's that girl who plays golf all day and bridge all night? Barker—Oh, that's Manning's daughter. She's up her with a nurse taking a rest cure.—Life.

News of the "movies"—Gossip of the pictures—Newest photodramas and Comedies of the screen. Where to Go in Pendleton.

Orpheum.

An extra good program for Friday's change. Four full reels of the best American pictures.

1. A Wasted Sacrifice. Vitaphone. Lots of virtue in it. Love and sympathy for a little child. It prompts a rough westerner to sacrifice himself in an effort to save an Indian papoose whose mother was killed by a rattlesnake.

2. Alone in New York. Edison. A story of a girl who ran away from the farm. In this picture she is brought face to face with a very hard situation. How she escaped the dangers lurking at every corner in the big metropolis makes a wonderfully interesting story. Miss Mary Fuller plays the lead in this picture.

3. Circumstantial Evidence. Selig. The story of a triangular love affair that had a dramatic climax. Adopted from Hapsburg Liebes' story entitled "The Little Good." Mr. William Duncan and Miss Myrtle Siedman play the principal parts.

4. A Substitution. Lubin. Harry and Dorothy are in love and each have rival admirers. Lem Durpu the hired man, thinks he would like to win Dorothy and Miss Vane, an old maid has eyes on Harry. The lovers agree to elope and the rivals each have plans to outwit them.

5. His New Cane. Lubin. John Smith, who has in his young days been an equirer, endeavors to improve his son's deportment, and presents him with a cane with instructions how to carry it. His cane gets him into no end of trouble. He finally does so much damage he is chased to the creek and given a good ducking.

The Pastime.

The home of good pictures, Friday's change of program is well worth seeing.

"The Sheriff Prisoner." Lubin. This picture, as a whole, makes excellent entertainment and will be liked. Sheriff Clancy on the lookout for a notorious highwayman, runs up against Bob Stern, a prospector who very much answers the description. Stern, who is pretty husky, turns the tables, arrests the sheriff and locks him in a closet, leaving his sweetheart Mary to keep guard. Bob then starts out and captures the right man, brings him back and turns him over to the law, and Mary makes Bob a prisoner for life.

"An Aeroplane Love Affair." American Pathe. A farce comedy that has some deliciously funny moments and some very pretty scenes. It also has an aeroplane elopement when Miss Gwendolin Petos is taken up by Mr. Geo. Beatty in a real biplane. The little leading lady is as charming as can be in this juvenile romantic role and adds much to the picture.

"Alkali Ike Plays the Devil." A first class comedy, well planned and well acted. Ike gets an invitation to a "masquerade" and takes an amusing way to obtain a suitable costume. It's a devil's makeup and when Ike gets it on and with a pitchfork starts out for the ball he frightens even the horses. It is certainly a good mirth maker. August Carney, Essanay's famous comedian, in his popular role. "Beatrice D'Este." C. G. P. C. This picture, with its dramatic story, its beautiful scenes and accurate settings is an excellent offering for the public. It is instructive and its also entertaining.

Cosy.

Wednesday and Thursday Florence Lawrence and Owen Moore in the rural comedy drama, "The Winning Punch." Victor, Owen, a country boy, is greatly worked up over the attentions paid his sweetheart Flo by a city sport. There are many amusing situations culminating in a rough and tumble fight in which Owen wins. It is full of comical events that keeps one laughing and is speedy throughout.

"The Ranchman's Awakening." "101" Bison. The homely wholesomeness of the situation will stir the sympathies of all. The ranchman is made to wake up to a realization of his wife's sterling qualities and of the misery he has caused her. A fine story of the west.

"The Man Within." Nestor. A whirlwind western story in which a smoky running fight between the posse and the outlaws is seen. The outlaw, wounded, took refuge in the sheriff's cabin and fell in love with the sheriff's daughter, who tried to save him. It makes a gripping climax to a very lively and interesting story.

"Curing Hubby." Imp. A very speedy comedy. Hubby would stay out late at the club and wife prepares a very comical scare for him. Mr. Cumpson, the comedian, in the lead. "Lie Not to Your Wife." Imp. A comedy of a Pacific coast bathing resort in which a masquerade got in bad. It is played in bathing costumes mostly and is very funny.

Coming Friday, "Robin Hood," an Eclair masterpiece in three reels, adapted from the famous story of the same name.

GOVERNOR BEGINS PRUNING EXPENSES IN STATE OFFICES

Salem, Ore., Oct. 10.—Governor West's long expected call upon various departments of the state government to justify their expenditures of taxpayers' money will begin in dead earnest next Monday. First, announced the governor, he will show up expenditures in his own office, thus beginning his campaign "at home." Then each day he will issue a statement showing the cost of conducting some office or department.

The governor set an example yesterday in the work of ridding the state government of "fifth wheels" by announcing that he intended to recommend to the legislature abolition of the office of state land agent, which is appointive by the governor. He has already announced that he will recommend abolition of the office of superintendent of the penitentiary, which is another one of his appointive offices.

Recognizing the uselessness of his office, T. A. Rhinehart, present state land agent, has advised the governor that the office ought to be abolished. "Mr. Rhinehart is perhaps the first Oregon officeholder who has recommended elimination of his own office," said Governor West. "The duties of state land agent in the past have been largely looking after state farms that were taken on mortgage foreclosures and of making indemnity selections to satisfy losses in school sections. These farms have all been disposed of and no indemnity elections are being made at this time, as this state is negotiating with the government for exchange, all in one block, of all school lands in the federal reserve and for which it is entitled to indemnity.

"If the office of state land agent is abolished by the legislature the duties of that office will devolve upon the clerk of the state land board." Referring to statements of cost of conducting state departments, the governor said he intended them to give the public full information as to the cost of running the different departments of the state and a chance to learn where extravagance, if any, exists.

"The members of the incoming legislature will thus have opportunity to inform themselves fully as to the cost of running the state government," he said.

FAT BOY, 275 POUNDS, CRAZY TO BE SOLDIER

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 10.—Seattle's fattest boy, Webster E. Rusk, aged 17, weighing 275 pounds, found life among the boy scouts not as strenuous as he believed a soldier's standard called for so he sought actual campaign experience by camping with the negro soldiers at Fort Lawton, where he was found after being missing a week. The lad is as red blooded and healthy as he is stout. He has always been an ardent boy scout and joined that organization with great enthusiasm. Nothing was thought of it when Webster started for school a week ago wearing his khaki uniform and slouch hat. His failure to return home led his parents to believe that he had gone for good. Yesterday a friend of Webster's father reported that the boy was bivouacked near Fort Lawton, eating with the negro soldiers and sleeping in a shelter he had made in the woods. He had only words of scorn for the man who "turned him up" to his parents.

BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN; LOOT MAIL

Fort Smith, Ark., Oct. 10.—Bandits held up a westbound train on the Rock Island railroad at Howe, Oklahoma early yesterday, dynamited the safe in the express car and looted the registered mail pouches. Passengers were not molested. The amount of loot taken has not yet been ascertained.
